

Bringing fun to your homes

THE Platinum Skies team is hosting a range of events across Wiltshire and Dorset to boost communities and bring them back together to enjoy shared activities.

Homeowners at Chapters in Salisbury and Vista in Parkstone, Esprit in Poole town centre have been enjoying various events including afternoon tea, a singer, barbecues, fish and chip suppers, and cheese and wine tastings.

Across the over-55s independent-living communities, the events are organised to enable the homeowners to come together and socialise with their neighbours. Upcoming indoor and outdoor events arranged by the community managers will include cocktails and mocktails, barbecues, film screenings, bingo, and live music performances. Summer parties and coach trips can also take place once restrictions ease further.

Laura Warwick, the director of lifestyle, wellbeing and entertainment, said: "The easing of restrictions has meant that our fantastic communities can start to socialise again, and new homeowners can meet their neighbours in our beautiful communal spaces.

"Our Community Managers work with our homeowners to support events and activities including charity raffles and coffee mornings for some very personal causes, leisurely afternoon teas with lots of Prosecco and some new and innovative past-times like our debating club.

"Homeowners have told me that they have met new 'friends for life', 'haven't laughed this much in ages' and 'socialised for the first time in 15 months' – all in the security of their own home."

Each Platinum Skies apartment is designed with accessibility in mind including bathrooms with step-free showers, easy-to-use kitchens with energy-saving appliances, and underfloor heating.
