Dear Helen,

REGISTER OF PARKS AND GARDENS OF SPECIAL HISTORIC INTEREST IN ENGLAND

Leaden Hall Garden, 70 West Walk, The Close, Salisbury, Wiltshire

As you will know from our earlier letters we have been considering adding the above site to the Register of Parks and Gardens of Special Historic Interest in England.

We have taken into account all the representations made and completed our assessment of the site. Historic England has decided not to add Leaden Hall Garden to the Register of Parks and Gardens of Special Historic Interest in England.

Please follow the link below to download a copy of our advice report, which gives the principal reasons for this decision. The annex of this report will be published on our Heritage Gateway website in order to provide clarity about the site's designation status. The website makes it clear that the buildings and sites included on the Heritage Gateway are mostly privately owned and are not open to the public.

If you consider that this decision has been wrongly made you may contact Historic England within 28 days of the date of this letter to request that the we review the decision. An example of a decision made wrongly would be where there was a factual error or an irregularity in the process which affected the outcome. You may also ask us to review the decision if you have any significant evidence relating to the special historic interest of the site which was not previously considered.

Factors such as the cost of upkeep/repair of sites, planning considerations and local importance, cannot be taken into account. Evidence previously considered will not on its own be sufficient to trigger a review. Historic England is also unable to conduct a review if you merely disagree with the decision but do not provide new supporting evidence.

Further details of the review criteria and process and how to request a review are contained in the annex to this letter.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if I can be of any further assistance. More information can also be found on our website at https://historicengland.org.uk.

Yours sincerely

Nick Law

Annex 1

Registration Review Criteria and Process

A review will only be carried out in the following circumstances:

(1) there is evidence that the original decision has been made wrongly. Examples would include:

- where there was a factual error, eg. the wrong site was registered; or

- where there has been some irregularity in the process which has affected the outcome, eg. relevant considerations were not taken into account or irrelevant considerations were taken into account.

(2) there is significant new evidence which was not previously considered, relating to the special interest of the site, as set out in our Selection Guides. For example:

- where significant new evidence relating to the date of a site has been discovered; or

- where there has been a material change of circumstances affecting the assessment of the site's interest, e.g. where major landscape change has altered the site to such an extent that it has lost its features of special interest.

Having conducted a review, we will either affirm or overturn the original decision. It is important to understand that the original decision will stand until we have made a decision on whether the original decision should be affirmed or overturned. If the original decision is overturned, this will not have retrospective effect.

How to request a review of a registration decision

Reviews are carried out by Historic England and review requests should be made on our 'Registration Review Request Form'. The form is accompanied by guidance notes to assist you in making a review request. Both the form and the guidance notes can be downloaded from the 'Listing Process' page of the Historic England website at:
