The Wooden Posts are yet another classic piece of equipment that invites children to hop and play "the floor is lava". While playing on the posts, children train their balance. The equipment consists of six balance posts, which can be placed at varying heights. The different heights challenge the children as they coordinate and judge distances while hopping across the posts. The balance Wooden Posts train children's motor coordination and balancing skills. The posts beautifully blend into the surroundings and serve as a natural connector between other pieces of play equipment, for example in a balance track.
