Dear Mr Crozier,

My husband and I have lived in Kington St Michael for 53 years and seen the village expand from a delightfully peaceful rural village to one creating stress.

The high-street through the village cannot be widened and already suffers dire congestion. During school times in particular traffic is often forced to mount pavements and create a gridlock. The danger to pedestrians and children is very considerable.

Stanton Lane already has problems with the present volume of traffic using it, much of it is single track and it floods regularly.

If there was a further increase of population in this area it would be insupportable.

Yours sincerely
