From the information you have supplied, it would appear the external alterations made to the property would not be considered permitted development and planning permission would be required due to being in a conservation area.

It is an important principle of decision-making that the process is open and transparent.

For the purposes of this question, "related to" means related, by birth or otherwise, closely enough that a fair-minded and informed observer, having considered the facts, would conclude that there was bias on the part of the decision-maker in the Local Planning Authority.
