Description of Proposed Works

Please describe the proposed works

The intention is to create an open porch on the side of the building where the 'back door' is. The porch will run from the front to the back of the house and will consist of a shallow pitched roof that is approximately 2.6m above ground level and attached to the side of the house and projects out 1.6m.

The projecting roof will be supported by two timber beams, one at the front of the house, immediately to the side of the the front gate and one at the rear of the building. The roof will be attached to the outside of the house by a timber wall plate.

The intention is to build the framing from timber and the pitched roof will be slates that match the slate roof on the main body of the house.

The house is a semi-detached cottage that were former workers cottagers for the local farm workers that were originally built about 200 years ago, so the plan is to create a simple structure that reflects the original simple nature of the cottages which is why a slate and timber structure is felt to be appropriate and in keeping with what is already here.

The reason for wanting to do the work is because the cottage is small, consisting of two rooms downstairs (a kitchen and a sitting room) and having a covered porch on the side of the building will provide much needed cover from the elements, mean wellingtons can be kept outside in the winter months etc

The cottage is not listed but is in a conservation area and in the Cotswold National Landscape which is why I am seeking planning permission. I have lived in and owned the house for approximately 5 years and in that time have endeavoured to sympathetically restore the cottage, outbuildings and associated land and gardens and this project is one of the final steps in this process.

Biodiversity net gain

Paragraph 13 of Schedule 7A of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 sets out that every planning permission granted for the development of land in England shall be deemed to have been granted subject to the 'biodiversity gain condition' requiring development to achieve a net gain of 10% of biodiversity value.

This is subject to exemptions, an exemption applies in relation to planning permission for a development which is the subject of a householder application, within the meaning of article 2(1) of the Town and Country Planning (Development Management Procedure) (England) Order (2015)*.

Applicants for planning permission are required to make a statement as to whether they believe the biodiversity gain condition will apply if permission is granted, please confirm:

☒ It is my belief that if permission is granted for the development to which this application relates the biodiversity gain condition would not apply

*A 'householder application' means an application for planning permission for development for an existing dwellinghouse, or development within the curtilage of such a dwellinghouse for any purpose incidental to the enjoyment of the dwellinghouse which is not an application for change of use or an application to change the number of dwellings in a building.
