Years

100

Months

0

Is the proposed development reasonably necessary for the purposes of agriculture?

☒ Yes

☐ No

If yes, please explain why

To provide additional slurry storage, to increase the flexibility for the farm to apply valuable slurry manure at the correct time during the growing season, to the farm crops. By having an additional slurry store it will allow the existing store to be emptied at the right time, providing an additional store to hold the slurry whilst the existing one is being emptied. The additional store allows for greater capacity to help ensure Farming Rules for Water are complied with and provide over 6 months storage, as recommended by the Environment Agency.

To provide additional storage area for silage feed for the dairy herd, in the form an excavated concrete pad. There is currently insufficient storage capacity and accessing the feed at the right times is not easy, as one cut of crop is often put on top of another. The additional storage will allow enough storage capacity and the flexibility required to access the different crops, as required.

Is the proposed development designed for the purposes of agriculture?

- ☒ Yes
☐ No

If yes, please explain why

For storing slurry in the lagoon and silage feed on the concrete pad, for the dairy herd.
